

COLLABORATIVE REPLICATIONS & EDUCATION PROJECT (CREP*)

Join our effort, as a student or faculty member, to conduct and publish replications of important findings.

WHAT IS IT?

A group of students and instructors around the world conducting close replications for their research methods, independent study, and senior research projects with the intent to publish shared findings.

WHY?

Combining resources increases publishing value of class projects; teaching replications helps students understand the mechanics of research. Benefits students, faculty mentors, and science.

ARE THERE REWARDS?

Yes! $300-$500 awards are sponsored by Psi Chi and the Center for Open Science for verified completed contributions.
